“DANGER MEN COOKING” AT CEDAR POINT SHOW

SANDUSKY, OH --- “Mac and The Big Cheese,” the Abbott and Costello of comedy cooking will be the headliners on the main stage at this year’s Progressive North American Demo Boat Show at Cedar Point, August 25-28.

The Boston-based duo of Pat Mac (Mac) and Mike Faverman (The Big Cheese) has been cracking up audiences from coast to coast for more than a decade. Brace yourself for expert cooking advice like: “Most chefs recommend using virgin olive oil, but we prefer the promiscuous kind!”

The “Mac and The Big Cheese” act is one of the additions to this year’s boat show entertainment and feature lineup, according to Bryan Ralston, show manager. “We’re offering visitors a whole lot more than just a great line up of boats and accessories. We want the whole family to be entertained and have fun.”

“Last weekend we almost sold out the front row,” quips Mac. The truth is they have sold thousands of copies of their “Mac and the Big Cheese Cookbook” and 8 different DVD’s. Yes, they actually do offer many real recipes, like Blueberry Peanut Butter White Cake, during their performance. Audiences just have to figure out which is which?

For example, gotta love their Exceptional Roasted Marshmallows recipe: “Just dip the marshmallow in a good Brandy (maybe Bailey’s), crystallize it with a plumber’s torch and enjoy . . . use double the alcohol for kids, they’ll sleep well!”

They have appeared nationally on the Travel Channel, TruTV, NPR and literally hundreds of local TV stations, and have won cooking competitions around the country. “They bring people together through food and laughter,” wrote one reviewer. “When you’re not laughing you’re learning. Simply the funniest comedy cooking duo ever!”

With the boat sales continuing to grow in Ohio and nationwide, Ralston says around 400 power and sailboats will be on display this year, making it the largest in-water show since the ’08 recession.
